In year 2010, I embarked upon 3 years of study in Limkokwing University of Creative Technology. I managed to graduate with flying colours during my Diploma course. Instead of continue my studies, I actually worked in a small architect firm for a period of 4 months. To me, architectural theory and practicality are both equally important and significant. Throughout the working period, I had learn how to manage a project, and to decide and design independently.

I then forwarded to UCSI University to pursue my Degree for another 2 years. My 5 years of study has provides me a wealth of experience in designing projects like mosque, community centre, restaurant and retreat house. However, I am looking forward to experience more projects and the opportunity to learn. My passion towards architecture has become the significant spirit of mine along my architecture journey.

Profile

“An architectural graduate who experienced in architectural related activities, such as industrial exposure, architectural workshops and competitions. A person who is keen in learning, like to take up the challenges and also seeking for more exposure on practical training in this industry. Interested in not only architecture but also interior, graphic and industrial design.”
